LIFE TERM FOR GUN TOTER AIM OF BILL

Bill To Reduce Violent Crime Proposed by Representative Bloom

WASHINGTON May 22 —Life imprisonment for every person who carries a concealed weapon is proposed by Rep Sol Bloom Democrat of New York as a method of reducing violent crime throughout the nation

Not only would Bloom stress the heavy penalty against crooks and gangsters but he would prohibit policemen and citizens as well from carrying revolvers

Investigation in a half dozen European countries has disclosed that the percentage of violent crime is in exact accord with restrictions upon the sale of pistols Bloom said

Why should a policeman carry a revolver asked Bloom He runs a shooting duel with a bandit every time he displays a gun in the pocket

Scotland Yard Method

Policemen are forbidden to carry guns in Great Britain except in Belfast I visited Scotland Yard and asked the authorities if they had considered arming the police They looked at me in surprise and replied that they would not think of using this method of enforcing the law They have rifles which may be used in case of riot or in the siege of a criminal but even then guns are used rarely

Some people like to talk about the fighting Irish but I have seen policemen in remote districts of Ireland hunting criminals armed only with a little club

Investigation of conditions in continental Europe convinced me that violent crime varies in accordance with the ease of obtaining guns and lax laws against the practice

If policemen are forbidden to carry guns and the crook knows that he faces life imprisonment for merely having one in his possession there will be few policemen killed in Bloom's opinion The policeman may have to take his chances in a rough and tumble fight now and then but he will have a far better chance of bringing the criminal to justice be declared

We armed millions of boys during the war and taught them to shoot said Bloom Now we've got to teach them to forget what they learned

He plans to introduce a bill in congress asking the federal government complete control of small fire arms

Famous Love Stories of the Operas

BY RUTH MORRIS

Romance of Eva Pogner and Walter Von Stolzing, from Wagner's "Die Meistersingers"

GERMANY is a singing nation and has been since early history when a national love of song resulted in the formation of singing guild- The place of German life has been celebrated by Richard Wagner in his opera Die Meistersinger which tells of life in the sixteenth century and of the love story of Eva Pogner and Walter Von Stolzing

Eva was the daughter of Veit Pogner a senior master of the Master Singers Guild—a daughter so beautiful that all of the eligible burghers of Nuremburg were suitors for her hand This created a troublesome situation for Herr Pogner anxious to see his daughter wed since his daughter refused to take any interest whatsoever in the selection of a lord and master The stodgy old Master Singers who would have been her father's choice were hard by the Hall to stir the affections of a beautiful romantic girl such as Eva

Enter the Hero

Whereupon old Pogner decided to put the matter into the hands of fate let it be known that the winner of the next Festival Prize of the singing guild would be pronounced bridegroom elect Late complicated matters just at this point by bringing to Nuremburg a young knight—the Walter of the story—a handsome dashing young blade who immediately won Eva's heart Together the lovers planned Walter's entry in to the competition He must first be made a gun or Master singer in order to compete at the gay Spring Festival for the greatly desired prize

The day of the trial came bringing to the meadow outside the town where the test was to be held a hopeful young knight fortified by a song of his own composition and a too slight knowledge of the traditions of the Meistersingers The score Beckmesser took his place in the screened booth wherein to mark the points good and bad of the contestants performance Walter a radical young musician disregarded the harmonic conventionalities of the contrasting old music guild and astonished the ears of its members with the unusual sequences of the song that poured from his heart He was laughed down 'Outdone and out sung' as the translation from the libretto has it

Many commentators claim that Wagner had written himself into the character of Walter and that the knight's defeat at his first hearing represented his own scornful first reception by the public Eva in this allegory would represent fame and one of the Meistersingers Hans Sachs who befriended Walter would represent the discerning public ready to correct the indiscretions of genius

Through this Hans Sachs the defeated Walter was persuaded not to give up hope and to try again at the Spring Festival of the Guild He took Walter to his home tutored him in the conventions of the Guild so that at least he might know which of the traditions he was disregarding in his revolutionary music

Together they worked out a song—one that was fiery and replete with the inspiration of the young composer and yet held in check by the technique of the older Sachs—a throbbing pulsating song that ranks among the most beautiful of Wagner's periodic melodies

One day in the workshop of Hans Sachs Beckmesser came across the lyrics to this masterpiece and thinking to employ it for his own uses at the trial made off with his rival's composition

The great day came and all the villagers flocked to the meadow on the outskirts of the town There were the Master Singers themselves quaintly and richly clad as became their dignity there were the guilds of bakers butchers shoemakers decked in their holiday finery and carrying banners which designated their trades There was Eva lovely and anxious for the outcome of the trial and Walter and Hans, confident of victory

The opportunity for Beckmesser to compete came first Striking his lute he tried painfully to make the borrowed phrases of the song fit his own stilted music The effect was ludicrous and it came his turn to retire mid roars of derisive laughter Then came Walter to sing the song as it should be sung, to pour out golden melody to win the acclaim of the Meistersingers and the hand of the beautiful Eva

OLD GOLD wins second place at Harvard

Two-year old "O. G." runs second to the old favorite brand entrenched at HARVARD for more than 14 years

Two cars against fourteen . . . a comparatively new cigarette against three veteran brands.

Yet OLD GOLD, the youngster, almost won! It defeated two of its veteran contenders . . . and nearly defeated the third!

This is the story of the Public Cigarette Test conducted at Harvard, by Edward F Batchelder of "The Harvard Crimson" Editorial Board.

With the single exception of the test at Harvard, OLD GOLD has scored an unbroken string of victories in these comparative taste tests.

But at Harvard, where pipe smoking is a tradition and the taste is for heavy tobaccos, smooth and mellow OLD GOLD faced its hardest contest. 148 undergraduates smoked and compared the four cigarettes with names concealed.

Yet OLD GOLD stood second in its total of "first choices!" It barely missed defeating the brand established at Harvard 14 years!

Man o' War, the greatest horse of his time, lost one race. And in its first and only defeat, OLD GOLD, the two-year old, felicitates the fourteen-year old victor.

The four leading cigarettes, "masked" with paper sleeves to conceal their brand names.

CLAIM GUN USED TO COLLECT DEBT

High-Powered Method Disclosed in Willie Wright Trial Here Today

Willie Wright, colored, went on trial in common pleas court this morning on an indictment charging that he pointed a loaded gun at Ben "Rabbit" Carter, also colored.

According to police records and testimony at the trial this morning the fracas occurred on the night of April 27, when Carter entered Wright's home on Senate st. to spend the evening.

Carter, it appears, was indebted to Wright for a loan. In his attempt to recover his money, the testimony this morning showed, Wright pulled a revolver from his pocket which he flourished at the debtor.

During the scene in which the gun played a prominent part Wright is said to have shot a hole through the parlor floor. After that the "Rabbit" left.

A few minutes later Carter arrived breathless at police headquarters, where he filed an affidavit against Wright. Police made the arrest later that night.

Wright has been in the county jail since his last arrest. This makes his third incarceration within slightly more than a month. Liquor proved his downfall on previous occasions.

The case is expected to go to the jury early this afternoon. Wright is represented by Attorney Fred W. Warner of the law firm of Carhart & Warner. Prosecuting Attorney Alfred Donithen is prosecuting the case.

This is the first criminal case of the May court term. H. B. Hager will be tried Thursday on an indictment charging that he drove a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Hager's case is said to be the first of its kind ever to come from a Marion county grand jury.

Layard Miller Pleads Not Guilty When Arraigned in Crawford County

Layard Miller, manager of the McQuate Rubber Co., formerly located in Marion, pleaded not guilty in the Crawford county common pleas court Monday to an indictment charging that he made a false financial statement for the purpose of obtaining additional credit. The indictment was returned secretly by the last grand jury in the Crawford county court.

Miller was released under $3,000 bond.

The charge against Miller was brought by the First National Bank, of Crestline, where he is alleged to have issued the false statement to obtain credit of $2,000.

After being placed in the hands of a receiver here the rubber company was moved to Crestline, where is was reorganized under the name of the Miller Balloon Co.

Miller, who now resides in Chicago, was arrested on the indictment at Mansfield shortly before he was to appear in Bucyrus in connection with a civil suit brought against him by Walter Schaaf, Marion real estate dealer. This suit against Miller is for $4,400 claimed to be due Schaaf on a promissory note given by Miller in connection with a stock transaction.

Schaaf's suit against Miller has been continued. Schaaf is represented by Attorney Ben T. Wiant, of the law firm of Mouser, Young, Mouser & Wiant. Miller is represented by J. Malcolm Strehlz, of the firm of Guthery, Strehlz & Guthery, and Attorney E. J. Myers, of Bucyrus.

Free Swimming School at Y.M.C.A. Open to All Boys in Sixth to Eighth Grades

Third Annual "Learn-to-Swim" Campaign Arranged Under Supervision of F. O. Rudolph, Physical Director

F O Rudolph, physical director of the Marion Y. M. C. A., has announced another "learn to swim campaign" that will be open to all sixth, seventh and eighth grade school boys in the city free of charge This will be the third free swimming campaign to be held here, the first one coming in 1926 and the second in 1927 No campaign was sponsored last year due to the extensive camp program that was carried out

All that has to be done to be eligible for the free swimming lessons is to fill out the entry blank printed here and take it to the Y not later than 6 o'clock Friday night, May 24 The lessons will start as soon as possible after the first of next month

All the boys who have submitted entry blanks will be notified in plenty of time as to when they will report at the pool for their lessons

Ample Training Assured

Rudolph states that about three lessons are all that are necessary to teach the average boy how to swim but if more time is required by any of the entrants this will be given

The campaign of 1927 was the largest of the two sponsored so far At that time 1,259 boys learned how to swim This large number of entrants was due to the fact that school boys of all the grades from the third to the eighth were allowed to enter

During the first free swimming lessons in the summer of 1926, between 400 and 500 boys took part

There is absolutely no cost to these lessons and the boy does not have to be a member of the Y. M. C. A. to become eligible for the lessons. Any school boy in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of any of the 11 schools in the city may take the lessons.

Rudolph requests that the entry blanks be filled out completely when they are returned to the Y. The zero hour for entries is 6 o'clock Friday.

Build With Marion

Tomorrow morning two hundred public spirited men and women of Marion will take the field to secure subscriptions from public spirited citizens to finance the ten organizations of the Marion Community Fund for one year.

These men and women are offering you an opportunity to do your share in work necessary for constructive community service.

These workers, in addition to giving their money, are giving their time and effort in order that this humanitarian appeal may be carried throughout the city in the brief time designated for that purpose.

Therefore, receive them as you would yourself be received if you were serving as they are. In such a spirit of mutual understanding, both those who ask and those who give will rejoice together in the consciousness of real service to Marion, your home.

The goal of the campaign is $64,000 — by each doing his or her just share the amount can be raised — it will mean "a feather in Marion's hat" to do so.

LAW PROBE SCOPE STARTS SQUABBLE

Wets and Drys Seek Different Ends in Probe of Prohibition Act

BY GEORGE R HOLMES
Marion Star Staff Writer

WASHINGTON May 22—The [illegible] so far President Hoover's [illegible] commission investigating prohibi[illegible] to provide some fire[illegible] outset of the com[illegible]

[illegible] the prohibitionists [illegible] are equally insistent [illegible] should delve into [illegible] although for totally [illegible] and with entirely [illegible] in view

[illegible] dore like Bishop [illegible] Jr and officials of [illegible] league want the com[illegible] est gate the weakness [illegible] h is the single end in [illegible] ening up loose machinery [illegible] enforcement more effec[illegible] ps deration at all given [illegible] f of the basic law To [illegible] Eighteenth amendment and [illegible] are sacrosanct and [illegible] here with except for the [illegible] making them more

Want Law Dissected

[illegible] ther hand the anti [illegible] and a good many who [illegible] ssified as honest [illegible] would like to see prohibi[illegible] on the dissecting table and [illegible] to render a verdict as to the feasibility of the whole system They want in short, a report on the practicability of prohibition as it is now operated

Ultimately the commission will take its cue from President Hoover He meets with the members next Tuesday to discuss the work with them, and to outline what he had in mind when he first suggested the inquiry during the last campaign

In this connection it was recalled today that Mr Hoover has never expressed himself directly on the Volstead law He has generally termed prohibition as a noble experiment that must be worked out constructively but at no time as a cabinet officer candidate for the presidency or as chief executive has he definitely placed his approval on the Volstead enforcement act

Hoover May Express Opinion

He may express some definite opinion next week when he meets with the 10 lawyers and one woman he has selected to survey the field of American lawlessness and again he may not The general belief is that he will not

Bishop Cannon afforded an insight today into what the professional drys hope to see accomplished by the investigation when he stated that the commission should no concern itself with the question of whether prohibition was or was not a mistake but should determine only what educative and enforcement methods are necessary to make it more effective

Of necessity said Bishop Cannon prohibition enforcement will be included in this study—not to determine whether the Eighteenth amendment is a mistake and should be repealed—but to determine what educative and enforcement methods including statutory legislation will secure the best results in the nation's conflicts with probably its worst enemy the liquor traffic whether under the law or despite the law

With the professional drys adopting that attitude and with the anti and the moderates demanding a wider consideration it would seem that President Hoover's new commission is in for a tortuous journey between the opposing fires

GERMANY GETS ITS REVISED BILL TODAY

Reparations Reported Handed Young for Presentation to Dr. Schacht

PARIS May 22—Germany receives her revised reparation bill today Delegates of the creditor nations hand their report to Chairman Owen D Young of the experts committee for presentation to Dr Hjalmar Schacht chief of the German delegation, later in the afternoon

This report contains revisions and conditions for acceptance of the German reservation

After Dr Schacht has studied the report he will inform the allied and American delegates when he will be ready to make his reply to a plenary session of the reparation conference

Opens Negotiations

With the reparation conference drawing to a close in an atmosphere of optimism the United States has opened fresh negotiations with France regarding the French war debt to the United States and the French debt of $400 000 000 for war stocks sold to France by the United States after peace was declared it was learned this afternoon

The foreign office admitted that a communication has been received from French Ambassador Claudel a Washington regarding the Mellon Berenger debt agreement and the French war stocks debt

However foreign office officials refused to confirm the London Times report from Washington that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has requested Premier Poincare through the French ambassador to inform the United States without delay what prospects there are for ratification of the Mellon Berenger funding agreement

Due in August

The communication from M Claudel was received two days ago

Foreign office officials pointed out that the Mellon Berenger accord was filed with the chamber of deputies last July Premier Poincare it was said is ready to urge ratification of the agreement as soon as France is certain she will receive sufficient reparations from Germany to cover all obligations This seems to be guaranteed by the report of the reparation experts who have been meeting here for more than three months

Foreign office officials admitted that discussions are in progress with the United States regarding payment of the war stocks debt of $400 000 000 which must be paid in August unless the debt agreement is ratified in the meantime or the United States congress grants an extension of time for payment

The Mellon Berenger agreement was made on April 29 1926 The original principal of the French war debt to the United States was $3 340 011 047 The funded interest was estimated at $851 486 806 The funded debt was put at $4 075 000 000

SPECULATORS FACE HIGH MONEY RATES

Advisory Council Suggests Banks Go from Five to Six Per Cent

WASHINGTON May 22 — Stock market speculators were today faced with the prospect of the highest federal reserve discount rates since the deflation period

The reserve board met to consider the recommendation of the federal advisory council composed of nine bankers that business men from each reserve district that banks making application should be permitted to boost their rates from 5 to 6 per cent

Since the reserve board made the resolution of the council public it is regarded as a warning to speculators to be on the lookout for higher rates Last month the council made a similar recommendation but it was not made public

Permission to banks to increase rates would mean that the reserve board has recognized that an emergency has been reached in the absorption of credit by the stock market, and that extreme measures must be used to take the steam out of speculation

Result of Brotherly Love.

No matter how sincere Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, may be in his reverence for the eighteenth amendment, and we have the utmost belief in his sincerity, some will be inclined to smile at his declaration last Sunday that the passage of that amendment was not the result of increased Puritanism, but, rather, a direct outgrowth of the exercising of "brotherly love."

Speaking to a congregation at the Arch Street Methodist church in Philadelphia, the bishop said, in part:

"It was never claimed that the passage of the eighteenth amendment would put an end to the liquor traffic, any more than lying, stealing and murder were abolished when God handed down the Ten Commandments.

"The ministry and the Christian citizenship of the country have been compelled to go into politics to fight the evils of the day. The liquor traffic was buttressed by the state and was as legitimate as any other business. How else was its status to be changed but by changing the law of the state? The eighteenth amendment is not the work of blue-nosed killjoys, but a direct result of the exercise of brotherly love."

We are not disposed to quarrel with the bishop over what may, or may not, have been claimed for the eighteenth amendment. We are in agreement with him that no law can entirely stop abuses. Any thinking person knows that it can not do more than lessen and restrict them so long as man is man. Nor can we question that it was, and is, proper for the Christian people of the land to combat the liquor evil.

We have always felt that the amendment should have been ratified by popular vote rather than by the approval of the requisite number of state legislative bodies. We believe that all amendments to the constitution should be effected by direct vote, owing to the case with which legislative bodies can be influenced. But let all this pass.

However, a tree is known by its fruits. Thus judging the eighteenth amendment, we look to its enforcement. Candidly, we can not get many of the manifestations of its enforcement to coincide with our conception of brotherly love.

For the Community Fund.

Approximately 200 public-spirited men and women will begin a canvass tomorrow to raise a community fund of $61,000 with which to carry on such philanthropies as the city has been able to work in the past only after and as the result of an almost endless succession of solicitations each year.

This sum sought was not arbitrarily determined. It was arrived at following careful study of the situation as to what will be necessary to meet the needs of the ten welfare agencies of the city to carry on for the year to end April 30, 1930, and at the same time make possible a reserve which will obviate the need of any solicitation should the community be called upon to meet a cry for succor as the result of some great calamity.

Those who for weeks have been giving of their time and efforts to the organization of the campaign, and have already or will give liberally of their means, point out the many great advantages of the community fund plan over the haphazard method of giving and duplication which has obtained in years past. They have summarized its advantages thus:

"It saves money—One campaign a year instead of ten.

"It saves time—A drive once a year instead of every few weeks.

"It saves effort—One job, one call, one united city-wide effort.

"It insures justice—Careful investigation of the needs and value of each agency.

"It prevents duplication—Social welfare program a unit instead of competitive effort.

"It protects the public—Insurance against unworthy appeals.

"It spreads the cost—City-wide interest and city-wide support.

"It makes for better service—Executives, secretaries and workers are free from worry about funds.

"It builds community spirit—Brings races and creeds together in a community movement for the community good."

Having watched the operation of the community plan in other cities, this paper long ago was convinced of its great merit. The results attained in cities in which it has been adopted attest its superiority over any other plan. Inquiry directed to the press and officials of such cities invariably brought therefrom commendation of the plan. All spoke of the economy of time and effort it worked, and most of them urged that it worked as well economy in the expenditure of money; that it effected a decided saving over the plan of raising funds by separate campaigns in behalf of the various philanthropic and welfare agencies of their cities. In the face of such showings, we naturally were won to the community plan and became a champion of its adoption locally, and today were are, if anything, even more enthusiastically for it than in the past, when we looked upon it only as a possibility, rather than a probability, of the near future.

And valuing the community plan as we do, we feel grateful to the men and women who for the next six days will give their time and efforts to the making of it an actuality for Marion. We feel that we would be doing less than our duty did we not bespeak for them gracious and favorable receptions by our citizenship. Surely if they can give of their time, and effort, and means to give this city a community fund, we who do not give of our time and effort should willingly give of our means according to our ability to give.

The purpose of the canvass has been made plain. It is a most worthy one. Let us as citizens meet it worthily and bring it to a successful issue.

A survey made by the state motor vehicle department of Connecticut shows that experienced drivers, while more efficient in theory than beginners, are by far the worst offenders against traffic laws. In a word, they have acquired confidence and take chances.

To End a Matter for Reproach.

Word comes from Washington that the passage of the combination reapportionment and census bill in the senate by the end of week has been assured by unanimous consent agreement.

Such action by the upper house of congress will mean the passage of the bill, for the lower house is committed to it, and thus a situation which has been a reproach to the nation will come to an end.

Twice the house has taken favorable action looking to reapportionment in accord with the provision of our basic law, and twice the senate has caused the efforts of the house to obey the provision looking to decennial reapportionment to fail, continuing a situation which was unfair to those states which will profit by reapportionment, but, worse than that, continuing a situation which could not have other than bad effect upon the people of the land. If congress, by its sin of omission, manifests scorn and defiance of the law, how can the people of the land be expected to show respect for the law? At times, we have been inclined to doubt if the upper house of congress realized to the full the evil effect its course toward reapportionment has worked.

It is good to have the promise that a situation which has for years been a disgrace to the land is soon to be ended.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY UP IN THE AIR AGAIN.

Food-Poisoning Is Common.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

We are approaching the season when food poisoning is common. Neglect of proper refrigeration and other means of protecting the food results in contamination which may be serious in its effects.

Whenever there is any doubt in your mind about a given food, the best thing to do is to throw it in the garbage pail. If you are unwilling to do this, the very least that can be done is to thoroughly cook the food. Submitting it to a high temperature will destroy any plant or animal life contained within it.

The eating of undercooked meat has caused many a person to suffer from some form of worm infection. The most common of such troubles is infection with the tapeworm.

There are several forms of the tapeworm. One is known as the "pork-measle tapeworm." Another is called the "fat tapeworm." Others are the "broad tapeworm" and "dwarf tapeworm."

There is no need of giving any description of these parasites. They all gain admission to the stomach through the food we eat.

In reciting the varieties I have mentioned I have not told you of all the various forms of these repulsive guests. There are "round worms" and "pin worms." The latter are more commonly found in children, but may occur at any age.

"Much has been written about the "hookworm." Infection with this prevails in the southern portions of the United States.

Then we have the "thread worm" and another peculiar infection known as the "trichina spiralis." The latter comes from eating raw pork. This worm is capable of finding its way into the muscles of the body. It is more than a disagreeable disease. It is quite fatal.

No matter what form of worm infection is present, it is very likely to produce the familiar symptoms of "worms." Nausea and vomiting are not uncommon. Diarrhea, anemia, and progressive emaciation are familiar symptoms.

Portions of the worms or of their eggs may be found in the stools. Colicky pains, unusual appetite, grinding of the teeth, and convulsions are met.

In every case of worm infestation the advice of the family physician should be sought. There are very sure methods of getting rid of these parasites. The popular remedies are quite effective, but, in my opinion, no household effort should be resorted to without the advice of the doctor. The treatment is pretty severe, and the physician will make sure that it is a proper time to take it.

I do not wish to end this article without saying that not every child who grinds the teeth is necessarily the victim of worms. Anything that excites the nervous system may have this as one of the symptoms. Eating the wrong food or eating too much just before going to bed, may have grinding the teeth as one of the symptoms of indigestion.

If there is any doubt in your mind about the matter talk with your physician. Let him decide whether or not you or your child have worms, and what to do to be relieved.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

I. E. G. Q—What do you think of the raw food diet? Can a person of fifty-four years of age properly subsist on such a diet? Will the fact that the patient has heretofore lived on cooked foods make any difference in this case? Has this kind of diet proven very successful?

A—Raw grated vegetables are considered very nutritious, yes, but a more balanced diet would be better under the circumstances. There are cases where such a diet is of advantage. Your doctor should be the judge.

Y. A. C. Q—Do diseased tonsils tend to make a person nervous?

Editorial Opinion.

NEW MONEY FOR OLD.

It took some such cataclysm as an arbitrary decision to reduce the sheets in size to enable the United States government to accomplish a thorough-going reform in the designs of the paper currency of the country. The gigantic task of changing the designs, in the interest of simplicity and uniformity, selecting the paper stock, engraving the plates and printing and "aging" the new money has been successfully performed, and beginning about the first or second week in July, the new money will make its initial appearance in the banks. The task of distribution necessarily will be gradual, and federal notes will get into general circulation more rapidly than the national banknotes, but that is a detail of more interest to the government and the banks than to the people who want the new money for their common uses. The new currency will have a printed surface of 6 5-16 by 2 11-16 inches as against 7 7-16 by 3⅛ of the old form, which leaves the sheets larger than the paper currency of France, Great Britain and most other European countries, but the reduction is sufficient to be material, and the public is asked to be patient until the old bills have been permanently retired.

The government has issued no new bills of the old type since April 1, and as it still will be necessary to reissue used nation banknotes for some months after the new currency has appeared, some of our money may get pretty dirty before it is permanently exchanged for clean. But the exchange bids fair to commend itself unreservedly to the public in time. No less than eight or nine different portraits appear on the five dollar bills now in circulation, while with the new sheets the portrait of Lincoln always will mean a five dollar bill. So with all other denominations. Each can be distinguished readily by its portrait, with which the public is asked to familiarize itself; and the colors and designs are so unified and simplified that cashiers will be able to assort their paper money much more easily than now. The new paper is tougher than the old and will better withstand grease and dirt, and the government will need be on its guard against the counterfeiting of fewer designs.

About 900,000,000 pieces of paper currency are outstanding all the time, and the initial issue of new bills will consist of 912,000,000 pieces, most of them in the smaller denominations. The government is to be congratulated upon bringing about this desirable change in the paper currency, which has been the dream of the treasury department for a great many years.—Boston Transcript.

THE GRAF ZEPPELIN'S FAILURE.

Thousands of people in every civilized land are giving thanks that the Graf Zeppelin's second attempt at a transatlantic passenger trip has ended only in failure, and not in a major air disaster, as might easily have been the case, and most certainly would have been if she had gone a few hundred miles further before her engine troubles convinced Dr. Eckener that it was necessary to turn back.

The suggestion of sabotage as the cause of the motor trouble may be dismissed at once, we think. It is impossible to believe that after the announcement of a voyage fraught with so many perils at best, the great dirigible was left so unguarded that it would have been possible for any one to make his way to her engines and tamper with them without detection. Neither can one believe that every one of her five engines was not minutely examined immediately before starting.

On the face of things, the probability seems to be that the engines, having propelled the big ship some 45,000 kilometers on previous trips, often struggling against heavy winds, had not life enough left in them for another major voyage. A delicate piece of our modern machinery not infrequently acts like the "wonderful one-hoss shay" of Oliver Wendell Holmes: everything works charmingly until a certain point is reached—when suddenly everything goes to pieces. It is the fear of this that leads our army air service to discard motors when even many good mechanics might think them still in admirable shape for use.

We may leave these matters, for the present, to the competent technical investigators who will immediately sift the case. It is already evident, however, that the time for regular passenger service over the ocean by dirigibles lies in the indefinite distance.—Columbus Dispatch.

Dinner Stories.

"Ought you not to express yourself with absolute frankness on all occasions?"

"I can't feel that way about the matter," answered Senator Sorghum. "Telling every one you talk to exactly what you think is merely a persistent and needless way of looking for trouble."

"What is a prescription Tommy?"

"That's a piece of paper the doctor gives you and then you go to the drug store and get whisky with it, teacher."

"Why don't you marry?"

"Because," answered Miss Cayenne, "I would rather go on having friends say 'Why don't you?' than take the usual chance of their saying, 'Why did you?'"

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, May 22.—Intimate and cozy tea rooms and "Southern" dinner places are grabbing the heads of chain restaurant stockholders as well indeed as proprietors of fashionable cafes. The profits of one of the largest chain was in a real estate swap. Otherwise it operated at a loss for the fiscal year.

Since the new traffic rules debouched motor travel out of midtown at the "dinner hour" the home cooking places have prospered as never before while places in the Whalenized zone suffered a corresponding loss of patronage. Parking privileges off the beaten path were a boon to little fellows.

Most of these have an ownership arrangement that has done much to enhance popularity. The manager, who acts as headwaiter, and the cook are joint proprietors, and not only the food, but service are under proprietary scrutiny. And prices are within reason.

Meals are of a well-balanced table d'hote variety, ranging from one dollar to two dollars with the $1.50 sort getting the big play. There is no music, no cover charge or hat-checking annoyance, and servers are darkies or comely waitresses.

The average dinner offers a choice of two soups, a fruit cocktail or oysters in season. There are three or four choices of meat, two vegetables, a salad, coffee and a half dozen tempting home-made desserts not found in most cafes. The service is casual, but not so slow as to be irritating.

Tipping is less than usually expected in most cafes. For years such restaurants were frequented largely by working girls, widows on small incomes and the so-called white-collar class. But lately the clientele has entirely changed. It comes from Park and other aristocratic avenues.

Smart cars are at the door. Before dinner parties in evening wress are numerous. No liquor is procurable in the majority of these dining places nor is bringing it in from the outside encouraged. The aim is for wholesome food in quiet surroundings.

A well-known blind character of the lower East Side known as "The Feeler" was glorified in a play this season on Broadway. "The Feeler," with that compensatory instinct of the sightless, can distinguish friends by their hand clasp. He sells lead pencils at a subway kiosk, but, being a man of erudition, spends much his spare time tutoring children of the slums.

And there is the story of the chorus lady who spent her after midnights imbibing in the Broadway grottoes of joy. Rushed to a hospital for an emergency operation, the surgeons found chloroform had no effect whatever. And ether just made her bright-eyed and chatty.

All sorts of curious improvements are predicted for mankind by members of the American Chemical society, recently meeting. It is said the time may come when man won't have to build his own character, but can depend on chemistry to do it. And if the chemists can discover what makes us stop growing, future generations may become a race of giants. Of course that would not be advisable as we would have to junk all our present furniture and other equipment. As to growing character by the chemistry and glandmethod that would take all the spiritual struggle out of life and leave us very much like the well-known worm.

Some men and women are born crusaders and some learn to crusade. Others are not born that way and never get that way. There is something, apparently inherent, though perhaps it is acquired, in some human-natures which gives them a never-resting urge to make people over, to reform them, to do something to change their ways. The old lines of Hazlitt—"you can not expect people to be other than they are"—apparently teach them nothing. This busy minority sometimes even succeeds in forcing laws on people who do not want the laws and eventually relegate the laws to the sad limbo of dead-letterism. Whether the crusader has done anything to make a happier or a better world still remains a matter of doubt.

Frankness can give a person decided charm, if the frankness is about oneself. People who are excessively frank about the failings of their friends usually have little charm. People who are too frank about the alleged good qualities of their friends are not charming either. They are merely flatterers. And flattery in time makes one ill. But there are a few people who are frank about themselves. They are without pretense. If they have failed at something they freely admit it. If they are not making a go of something that they used to be enthusiastic about, they come right out and say so in a natural manner. If they do things that are obviously what they should not do, they admit it. They do not try, hypocritically, to conceal it. Such people—and they are very few—have charm. They are invariably liked by their fellows, and they deserve to be.

Speaking of frankness, there is probably no commoner fault among us mortals than the fault of pretense. It is possible to develop a great proficiency in pretending to wealth and distinction which we do not possess, and in pretending to have accomplishments and qualities which we would like to have but for which we are not willing to pay the price.

The Midnight Sun.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

"Please settle an argument about the midnight sun. Is the sun visible let us say at 12 o'clock, midnight, June 22, at the North Cape, Norway? Is it the sun or is it the reflection of the sun?—Ole Jonassen, New York."

It is the sun itself, and no mere reflection. It is true that some people think that what is seen is only a reflection of sunlight, from ice-fields below the horizon in the north. When the sun just skips along under the horizon at the midnight hour, as happens at places a little south of the Arctic circle, no doubt there may be an "ice glint," throwing the sun's rays into the atmosphere over the northern horizon, thus producing a peculiar illumination not exactly resembling an ordinary twilight effect. But when the place of observation is sufficiently far north in latitude to bring the place of the sun in the sky at the hour corresponding to midnight on only parts of the earth a little above the northern rim of the horizon, then the "midnight sun" is really visible.

Very beautiful photographs have been made showing the curving course of the midnight sun as it first runs down toward the horizon, and then, without dipping under, rises again in a similar curve on the other side of the lowest point. Donald Macmillan, the Arctic explorer, made such a photograph showing the midnight sun in eight successive positions as seen from Etah, Greenland, well within the Arctic circle, but in July, some time after the summer solstice. A reproduction of this beautiful picture may be seen in Russell, Dugan and Stewart's "Astronomy."—Copyright, 1929, International Feature Service, Inc.

BY COZETTE DOUGLASS.

If Garibaldi's "Brazilian Amazon" had another name but "Anita," history fails to record the fact. All that can be positive is the fact that she did exist, that she did run away from her husband to join Garibaldi and that Anita is not her right name, but one which Garibaldi himself gave her.

The story of Garibaldi's life reads almost like a melodrama and in spots taxes to the utmost the credulity of the reader, but it is a safe conjecture that it is in no way overdrawn. Garibaldi is far and away the most picturesque and illustrious character of his time. At the age of twenty-four he was exiled from Italy for his political activities. With the love of republicanism born in his heart, it is not strange that he sought refuge in the new-born republic of Rio Grande, where he was a conspicuous figure for many years, and later going to Uruguay commanded a fleet of her ships in her fight for freedom.

It was while Garibaldi was cruising along the Brazilian coast that he caught his first glimpse of the one who was to rule his heart until death. At the time Garibaldi was thirty-one years of age, and the object of his affections, but twenty.

He sought and obtained an introduction to "Anita," who was already married. Her husband was a staunch royalist, and while Garibaldi was a guest at her home, she suspected that her husband was plotting his ruin, and that the wine was poisoned. Garibaldi made his escape from the house, and with him went Anita.

When she was brought aboard his ship, one of the sailors, at Garibaldi's command, performed the marriage ceremony. The fact that the lady already had a husband, seems not to threw no obstacle in the way to their happiness. From that second on Anita was ever at Garibaldi's side. Truly they were a well-matched pair, and it was more than love that sent Garibaldi an exile from his own country to Brazil to claim his bride.

It is no idle statement to say that they lived, loved and fought side by side. For such was actually the case.

When Garibaldi returned to Italy, Anita went with him, and it was during Garibaldi's retreat from the Austrians and French that Anita received the wound that caused her death. She died in Garibaldi's arms, but the enemy were so closely on his heels, that he was forced to flee, leaving Anita to be buried by a peasant.

Garibaldi never knew the last resting place of the woman whom he adored. All he had of her were his memories and a lock of her hair, which, framed, hung like a shrine over his bed.

After Anita's death, he married twice, but his real love was for the woman who had shared every danger.—Copyright, 1929, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Notable Charity Service Is Performed by Society Included in Fund Program

Relief Work for Individuals and Families of All Denominations and Creeds Done by Organization Formed at St. Mary's Church

...work of charity is foreign to ... This is the principle ... which the local, state, national ... International St. Vincent de Paul ... does its work. Not for relief ... the moment, but to visit the family ... person from week to week, so ... good citizens are built up instead ... burdens to society—that is ... aim of the charitable work of ... Vincent de Paul.

... contributing to the Community Fund campaign will be gratified to know that this society of ... men, doing charity work for ... denominations and creeds, will receive a part of the money when the budget is made out.

Active members in the society include A. L. Bintz, Edward Huber, L. A. Axe, Harry Kelleher, Adolph ... R. E. O'Connor, C. C. Brown, ... T. J. Frericks, Henry Drake and Paul ... Axe is president, Huber, treasurer and Frericks, secretary.

Membership is made up of honorary, ... contributing and active ... women and children. Active members are men of the parish.

Example of Service

One of the most deserving cases brought to the attention of the society and the Rev. William J. Spickerman, pastor of St. Mary's, is that of a woman whose husband is living in another city and who is trying to support three children and another member of the family. The society has found various positions for her in households over the city, but at present housecleaning season is waning, and the society is anxious to give the woman permanent work. The Rev. Father Spickerman has asked that anyone who might give her employment to call the parsonage so that he can make arrangements with her.

The society meets each week at the home of a member.

When a case is brought up, the men pair off to investigate. It is one of the rules of the society that the men go in twos to visit the cases.

This year the society carried out a nutrition plan in St. Mary's school, supplying the milk for the work. Expenditures of the society include light, rent, heat, clothes and milk. Some families need their rent paid, most of them need clothes, many can't meet light bills and the nutrition work and several charity cases call for the buying of milk.

Work Not Heralded

One of the wonderful points of the society is that men of the world, interested in many other things besides charity, should take such an active and benevolent interest in the work of St. Vincent de Paul. The local society was formed here in December. It is one of the policies of the men to say nothing of the work that they do, for after all, that is not the real thought behind charity, to publish the philanthropical work accomplished.

Several students at St. Mary's are clothed by the society, and their clothing is of such quality that the students are in no way set apart from the others as "charity" boys and girls. None but the Sisters of Charity, the society and the parents know that St. Vincent de Paul is making it possible for the children to go to school on the same footing with their fellow companions.

It seems to be a thing taken for granted that doctors, dentists, opticians, anyone who does outside work for the society, refuse to send a bill in. The men consider this work their act of charity in assistance of the society.

The active men in the society are in a position to offer jobs to worthy men out of work, and have done a great deal along this line since the organization was effected last December.

Funds from the budget will be used in extending the charity work of the society.

A Polishing Wax that does its own Cleaning

Here is a floor and furniture wax that not only leaves surfaces shining but cleanly shining. Hoover Polishing Wax doesn't ask any preliminary cleaning; it does its own cleansing as it goes, putting its bright, hard luster on a surface that is freshly, thoroughly spick-and-span.

And such a finish as it does give! Not an over shiny finish, not a dull and sticky one. Just a rich, lustrous polish that is so smooth and hard, so free from oiliness or stickiness that dust simply won't cling to it.

HOOVER POLISHING WAX

is wonderfully easy to use. And marvelously speedy both in its application and in its polishing. It is liquid—so it goes far. It clings tightly to the surface on which it is used—so it can be spread thin. It dries immediately—so it can be polished without delay. And it polishes readily—so it needs no vigorous rubbing, but just a light going over, with a cloth or the polishing attachment of your electric cleaner.

It is remarkably good for floors—doesn't invite dirt and isn't slippery. It is fine for furniture—protects the beauty of the finish and leaves no bluish cast or bloom. And it is excellent for motor cars—makes their finish easier to keep clean, for it is not affected by gasoline or oil or water. It is a particularly desirable finish for windowsills or other wood surfaces exposed to the weather, because it is waterproof; and an ideal finish for linoleum, because it makes unnecessary the use of soap—is readily cleansed with clear water. It is so easy to apply, so quick to dry, so ready to polish to brightness, that it is only a matter of a few moments to go over the most-exposed spots on the floor, the finger-marked table, the much-used chair and restore both their cleanliness and their luster.

You can get Hoover Polishing Wax, made by the maker of The Hoover Electric Cleaner, from Department, Furniture, Hardware and Drug Stores and Garages. You will like it.

Woman Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Denver, Colo.—"I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and will take more. I am taking it as a tonic to help me through the Change of Life and I am telling many of my friends to take it as I found nothing before this to help me. I had so many bad feelings at night that I could not sleep and for two years I could not go down town because I was afraid of falling. My mother took the Vegetable Compound years ago with good results and now I am taking it during the Change of Life and recommend it"—Mrs. T. A. MILLER, 1611 Adams Street, Denver, Colorado.

It opened abruptly, projecting a wedge of light into the outer darkness. An old and shriveled little man stood in the doorway, peering at him As if satisfied with the caller's appearance he smiled benevolently and beckoned him to enter

Vanardy followed There was an air of tranquillity about the house that instantly stilled the faint misgiving he had felt the moment the door was opened Moving with the lightness of a straw blown before the wind the old man conducted him down the hall He knocked on a door waited until a gruff response sounded within then opened and stood aside to let the caller enter

Curiously impressed by his strange reception Vanardy stepped forward The room though crudely furnished in bungalow fashion had a homelike appearance There were bookcases along the walls rugs of bright pattern were scattered over the floor and a huge shaded gas lamp on the center table diffused a soft light In a wheel chair before a blazing log fire, with a blanket drawn up over his knees sat an individual whose villainous features afforded a sharp contrast to the cheerful surroundings

Who the devil are you he demanded sourly

My name is Philip Dawson said Vanardy both amused and puzzled I am staying temporarily at Tuckaway camp having offered my services toward clearing up the Craig murder

The occupant of the wheel chair grunted in a way that might have meant any one of several things He had an owlish assortment of features with a large and totally bald head a hooked nose a narrow gash of a mouth that was twisted into an unpleasant half-smile and round beady eyes that seemed astoundingly alert From their rigid position Vanardy inferred that his legs were paralyzed but the upper portion of the man's body was bending forward intently while he scrutinized his caller with a peculiarly saturnine expression

A certain person entered this house just a few moments ahead of me said Vanardy feeling that he was expected to explain his presence I am looking for him

A certain person That's rather vague Don't you know his name?

I am not sure Vanardy had only a hazy impression that the man he had followed was William He may be one of the servants at Tuckaway camp His actions struck me as a bit peculiar and so I started after him

A glint of suspicion entered the cripple's bleak eyes Most amazing, he declared You say this person entered my house just ahead of you You must be mistaken No one enters this house without my knowledge

From the abruptness with which the door had opened while he stood outside debating whether to enter Vanardy was inclined to agree with him Moreover he had no proof that a person he had been pursuing had entered the house

Come closer said the occupant of the wheel chair I want to look at you A man situated as I am with only one servant within call, can't be too careful and your explanations do not satisfy me in the least No don't stand there. Take this chair, please'

A trifle reluctantly Vanardy sat down in a position that enabled the cripple to scrutinize him closely

His disguise was a rather shallow device, counting for its success upon acting and assumed manners rather than exterior embellishment and he had ventured on his expedition to Tuckaway camp in the expectation that he would encounter only a handful of servants. The unexpected arrivals of Culligore Bell and the lawyer had given him cause for grave anxiety and now the cripple's chill gaze searching his face with a keen and methodical sweep inspired him with further misgivings He had felt a measure of safety among the others for they would never expect the Gray Phantom to be foolhardy enough to appear on the scene of a murder he was accused of committing But he was not so sure that the same consideration would influence the judgment of the man in the wheel chair

He felt immediate relief when the inquisitorial gaze was lowered but the cripple's next words came as a shock

You will pass he said calmly a wintry smile mingling his lips You wouldn't think it but I have keener eyes than most people It isn't very likely that any one else will suspect that you are the Gray Phantom

Vanardy sat very still staring rigidly into the others frostily gleaming eyes The cripple had spoken with a matter of factness far more impressive than a more dramatic declaration would have been He leaned back in the chair and seemed to take a malicious satisfaction in the sensation he had aroused

In a moment Vanardy pulled himself together 'What a ridiculous mistake' he exclaimed

The cripple waved his hand as if to indicate that denials were useless. Is it was a mistake why did it start? You so? Don't disturb yourself my dear Phantom I am not at all interested in the affairs of the police I have only one interest in life and that is sleep

Sleep

See these books The man in the wheel chair indicated the bookcases along the walls Half of them are on the subject of sleep I have read everything that everybody has written in regard to the matter Some day I hope to write a book of my own in which I intend to refute the theory of Lingree and others who advance the absurd idea that sleep is produced by changes in the blood supply of the brain Did you ever hear of anything more ridiculous

I fear I am not an authority on the subject

No? That's a pity If you were we could have a very profitable discussion My interest in the subject is due to the fact that I seldom sleep. Have suffered from insomnia since my early youth There is nothing like sleepless nights to start a man's mind working along scientific lines, and mine naturally turned to the matter of sleep Fascinating subject I assure you You ought to read up on it.'

'Perhaps I shall some day Just at present——

'Of course You have weightier things on your mind Even a lay man however ought to see that Pingree is a charlatan He hasn't even mastered the fundamentals. The truth is so obvious that even a school boy should be able to grasp it there is no mystery about it at all Sleep is the natural result of the retraction of the dendrites and the separation of the neurons Simple isn't it?

Vanardy smiled in spite of the tension he felt There was a glow in the cripple's face that softened its repulsiveness Vanardy felt an unaccountable attraction toward this peculiar individual who discoursed so wisely on sleep and seemed to hold everything else of minor importance Even his wicked looking features took on a picturesque quality as he discussed his favorite topic

Sleep he murmured leaning back and regarding his visitor out of half closed eyes It is the most fascinating subject in the world I am devoting my declining years to a study of it Sorry I didn't start sooner My only regret is that life is so short There is so much to learn and the time in which to learn it is so brief Before many years I shall have gone into the everlasting sleep He chuckled as if the thought struck him as humorous But I hope to live long enough to convince people that I Bryan Hollister am the world's greatest authority on the subject of sleep

Again he smiled and the smile seemed to draw a luminous mask over his features obscuring their repelling qualities

But I see you are not particularly interested he remarked with a frown "Always forget myself when I start talking about sleep It doesn't occur to me that others may not be interested in my hobby I suppose your mind is on the affair at Tuckaway camp Poor Craig' He called on me occasionally and we played chess together now and then He is sleeping now His head drawn together and a peculiar dreamy light shone out of his eyes The last long sleep'

Vanardy stirred uneasily in his chair The speaker's personality, his soft spoken words, the fanaway glimmer in his eyes, appeared to wrap a veil of unreality around him Then Hollister sat upright in the chair and an illusion seemed to vanish

Madge Insists Upon Explaining About Madge's Tea Twosome

LILIAN'S prediction of fireworks seemed justified when Dicky careened into the driveway his car answering her strictures of being on two wheels His face was set and forbidding and as he drew his car alongside mine and turned toward me I saw that his eyes were gleaming with suppressed temper But his voice was controlled

Will you kindly get into this car Madge' he said I won't keep you long but there is something I want to say to you'

Lillian forestalled my answer by leaning across me and laughing impudently at my husband

What's the matter Dicky Bird she drawled You're not going to take your loving wife for a ride a la the Chicago bandits are you'

Dicky growled something in his throat which I could not catch but to which Lillian responded with her own malicious interpretation

What's that' I did like to? Oh! You're cute Dearest Slip out and push' push' Mamma's really will have to punish her little boy severely if he speaks so naughtily again

Oh' can't she comedy Lil Dicky said with infinite weariness to his voice I'm not in the mood for participation even your artistic variety

Lillian Hangs On

Thanks for the dumplings Darling she told him sweetly But I'm afraid I could have to this morning I wish you to have the pleasure of your wife's company for the few minutes you named Because my lucky Lil Beth and Naomi haven't got nothing on Madge and me this morning When he gets I'm going to go and all the rest of it So if you have any great thoughts to emit in her direction you'll pour out the pancake batter what I'm right at the table

They stared at each other for a long minute, each calm eyes meeting temptations angry ones unflinchingly Then Dicky spoke with repressed temper sounding in every inflection

I don't think you understand Lil he said slowly and we both realized that only his years of affection for her and his gratitude to her for the great sacrifice she once had made for him kept his voice from ruinous insolence I wish to talk to Madge alone for a few minutes

Dicky's Anger Rises

What you wish and what you're going to do are two very different things my lambie bird she told him mockingly And for the love of Abraham Isaac and Jacob glide down before you go into a tail spin You don't think it's any secret to either Madge or me what's on your alleged brain dynamo You stumbled upon a tea drinking moment tactfully took an entire wrong slant on it and are preparing to haul your wife over the coals for something which was not her fault at all'

Dicky choked back an oath

You go too far, Lil even for an old friend

I know that but her voice was suddenly low and insecure. But I've got to stop you from making about nineteen Gardarene swine out of yourself Now you have control a minute You know how important it is not to throw any monkey wrench in the machinery here until we get this gang rounded up and safely in the hold Well Phil Veriten who would be about the most upsetting wrench possible called up this morning fit to be tied because his darling princess had disappeared and so forth ad infinitum ad nauseam You and Harry couldn't be spared or I thought you couldn't conveniently weren't as necessary as I thought—and I am distinctly persona non grata with old Phil just now

I hoped Dicky did not notice my involuntary little start of surprise Lillian was embroidering her pattern with a venegeance

It wouldn't have done any good for me to talk to him—indeed my presence at the interview would have hindered things.—so there was nothing else save for Madge to go reluctantly you may stake your life on that

Oh' of course' Dicky sneered with such venom that I felt like crying out to him a taunt he doesn't even though false that Lillian was mistaken that I had gone to tea with Philip Veriten willingly and that I had enjoyed my jaunt to the utmost.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M LEWIS

THIS was a bright and sunny morning when I let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth and put on my britches and went downstairs but I wasn't thinking about its being bright and sunny so much as I was thinking about old man Scanlon and what Miss Parmer said about him He is a good old fella and that time he helped us have the circus in his barn was one of the best times we ever had

He used to be a milk man and he had a long and deep trough in his barn and he took some boards off of a partition and helped us push the trough through on rollers, and then he put on a board across the middle of the trough so that made it look like the end of it when the partition boards was put back and we had a lot of acts and I was the merman and was to stay under water for five minutes and all of our folks and some others were there

When it came my turn I bowed and told them that I was the boy wonder and world challenge, and for them to look at their watches and not be deceived Then I dove in and under the board and came up on the other side of the partition and peeked through a crack at them and they sure got excited as the minutes went by, and then they began to get scairt and then old man Scanlon ran his fingers through his hair and I knew it was five minutes It was a big hit I had to tell my father about it that night though because he was going to take me to a newspaper office and challenge the world and make me champion I almost got licked I have almost got licked lots of time and lots of times I didn't almost

The girls went out to the pasture with us when I went out after the cows and took a basket along to see if they could get some strawberries but the man that owned them and that had smeared my face with them Sunday was there watching them and I didn't dast to go near them, but Feeble and Maggie and Younius went over to where he was, and they told him good evening and he grunted and watched them and the basket. And Feeble told him she'd bet he was the strongest man in the world and Maggie said she didn't think he was so very strong but he was certainly handsome, and Younius asked him if he would eat his mother if they might have some strawberries, and he said he thought he ought to have a kiss if he let them have some strawberries, and Younius said she thought so too so they got a lot of berries and started off, and he said, "Ain't you forgetting something." So Feeble called to the Lost Bag of Tripe and told him to give the man a kiss And the man just stood and looked at them while her skin out Men aren't so very brite.

Excavation of W. Center St. Sewer Averages 50 Feet Daily, Contractors Report

Progress Regarded as Satisfactory, Due to Care Required To Prevent Cave-ins and Damage to Lines Already Underground

Trenches for the new West Center st. sewer are being excavated at the rate of 50 feet a day, contractors Uncapher & Gillespie reported this morning. This is very satisfactory progress, they say, working under the difficulties encountered in pipelines and other underground construction that must be left intact.

The trenches are between 12 and 14 feet deep and necessitate reinforcements of the sidewalls as they are dug. Otherwise the walls would collapse from the constant jar of traffic over the south half of the street.

Will Lay Two Lines

Work on the trenches was started Monday, beginning at Oak st. and moving east on Center st. The sewers are to be laid about midway between the curb and the electric car tracks. Two lines will be built in Center st. from Oak st. to Main st., the storm water sewer, which will be 21 inches in diameter, and the new sanitary line which will be of 12 inch size. The 21-inch stormwater line will run from Oak st. to Prospect st., where it will be substituted by a 24-inch line from there to Main st. This work is expected to be completed within at least 50 days.

Construction of C. D. & M. Electric Co. interurban lines on Center st. from State st. west has been progressing with equal satisfaction, contractors said this morning. All excavating of old lines has been completed from Main st. to State st., and grading the track bed will be under way this afternoon, officials in charge of track construction say.

Seek To Aid Traffic

The work on West Center st. will be finished before North State st. track is rebuilt, in order to aid uptown traffic conditions.

When grading work on the track beds is done, a drain tile line will be laid down the center of the track bed. This will be followed by a course of rolled limestone, on which the steel track ties will be built. Tracks will be laid and concrete will be poured on either side and between the tracks.

If the work is not deaged by weather conditions, pouring concrete is expected to start sometime next week. Approximately two days will be required to lay the track after the beds have been completed, the track foreman said today.

Eliminate Double Tracks

Double track on Center st. immediately east of Main st. will be eliminated in the new construction, official say. Single tracks will be used on all construction now under way.

If present progress on track construction continues, Main st. will probably be blocked Friday to extend the work across the intersection. Not more than a day will be required, although a raised bridge will be used for some time after Main st. has been reopened.

WICHITA MAKES 2,500 PLANES THIS YEAR

Air Craft Manufactured in Kansas City Worth $12,500,000

BY H. M. VAN AUKEN
Executive Secretary of the Wichita, Kan. Chamber of Commerce

WICHITA, Kan.—The City of Wichita manufacturers more airplanes than any other municipality in the United States. Metropolitan New York's plane output grosses a higher financial figure, but this is because Wichita has been content to specialize in smaller and cheaper aircraft.

Wichita's rise to a place of prominence in the airplane industry has been a long hard pull, but the top has not yet been reached. As a matter of fact, Wichita is just beginning its career as an aviation center. The city purposes to continue to grow with the industry.

According to present indications, local airplane production for 1929 should approximate 2,500 ships of all types with a retail value in the neighborhood of $12,500,000. Moreover, the middle of 1929 should find not less than 2,500 men and women actively employed in the aircraft industry.

1500 Workers

At the present time about 1,500 citizens are employed in all phases of the aircraft industry and the payroll averages $100 per month per individual. This average is below that of other established industries due to the fact that men from over the entire United States are swarming into the aeronautical industries and will work at a very low figure. We sincerely believe that Wichita has more experienced aircraft technicians than any other municipal unit.

Wichita's aeronautical industry began in 1919 when Swallow, the first strictly commercial airplane factory in the United States, was founded by Billy Burke, Matty Laird, Jake Mollendick and Buck Weaver. The company was entirely Wichita financed as have been all the factories that have begun from Swallow. All of the local factories, to begin with, were Wichita financed and controlled and almost without exception control is still vested with Wichita men, although eastern capital has invaded the industry. The entire industry in Wichita represents an investment ranging between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000, but due to the success of the industry, the stock has a market value today far in excess of the actual money invested. Among Wichita's first aviation boosters was Victor Murdock, pioneer resident, former member of Congress, and one Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission.

Aeronautical schools are becoming one of the most active of the local industries. Today there are in the neighborhood of 400 young men and women in Wichita taking aeronautical instruction from various schools. These do not include correspondence students.

Wichita has two municipal airports of 640 and 150 acres and six factory and school airports. The total acreage of Wichita's airports exceeds 1,500.

City Is Fortunate

Wichita's position in aviation is due to a number of things. The city is ideally located geographically; climate permits year-round flying; the terrain is level and ideal for flying. The Swallow, mother of all the Wichita factories, and a great many others scattered over the nation, was established here and attracted war time pilots to the city. A number of men who are prominent in the industry are native Kansans. These include executives at all of the factories, among which are Jake Mollendick, Walter Beech, Clyde Cessna, Lloyd Stearman and Mac Short.

All of the local factories are anticipating expansion during the present year while Travel-Air, Stearman and Cessna have made definite expansion moves. The local factories produce twenty distinct models powered with fifteen different power plants shipped in from the Lakes, Atlantic and Pacific manufacturers.

That Wichita merits her title of "Crossroads of the Air" is attested by the fact that in 1926 she manufactured 150 planes, in 1927, 300, and in 1928 1,000.

All seems to be regarded as fair in love, war and divorce.

Shadow of Higher Money Blocks Early Morning Recovery

SIX PER CENT RATE BACKED BY COUNCIL

Second Flood of Selling Orders Causes Confusion in Market

BEST STOCKS FALL

Fresh Weakness in Motors Source of Worry to Bullish Traders

BY W. S. COUSINS
U. P. Financial Editor

NEW YORK, May 22—The shadow of higher money rates hung over the stock market today and blocked the recovery which appeared to be gathering headway shortly after the noon period.

Bulls in the stock market trembled when the reserve board's advisory council came out strongly for a six per cent rediscount rate and there was a rush to sell stocks when the opening soon sounded. After the shock of the first selling wave passed, the bulls braced themselves for the next assault and by the end of the first hour most of the early losses had been recovered. Then the flood gates of selling were opened up again, and confusion prevailed on the big board as prices in the best stocks fell through their resistance points to sell at the lowest levels of the year.

Fresh weakness in the motors was a source of worry to the bulls, Chrysler, for example, which was able to rally to 78 yesterday, after a sheer drop of 20 points from the high of the year, sank with the force of a rally to a new low at 71. General Motors broke below 75 for the first time this year, and fell through to 74. Nash dropped back to 88, down two points for the day and 30 points from the high of the year. Yellow Truck, Briggs and Stewart Warner sold lower.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Apples are now provided throughout the year in Marion markets, and at prices that are reasonable, considering the short time the crop is available. All apples now on the market are from last year's crop.

Grocers predict local apples will appear within the next two months, Ohio orchards producing some very select fruit as well as apples in quantity for cider making and vinegar. Large orchards have grown in popularity in the last few years, making the choicest of fruit available either on local markets or direct from the orchards.

Winesaps are now the most popular apples. As a part of fruit salad, they are always crisp and will remain fresh and solid under favorable conditions. Two pounds for 23 cents is now the price the better grade of fruit is bringing on local markets. Practically all sales are made by the pound, there being no demand this time of year for bushel quantities.

The juicy yellow transparents will be available in quantities within little more than a fortnight, local grocers say. These will come from the West Virginia orchards, which apparently have escaped the scathing winds and light frost of this territory. There will be two grades of apples for sale if the crop of former years is repeated. The fancy grade will sell around two pounds for 25 cents, grocers say, and the choice apples will sell at three pounds for 25 cents. These prices will change as the supply grows, and local apples come to the market a few weeks later.

Today's Review of Yesterday's Grain

CHICAGO, May 22—Wheat futures allied in the early trade on the local exchange yesterday, but pressure developed on the upturn and prices dropped sharply, with the July option selling at a new low figure on the crop. Other grains were heavy and sold at lower prices throughout the session.

Closing prices showed the following losses in grain prices: Wheat, ⅝@⅞c; corn, 1¼@1⅝c; oats, ½@¾c; and rye, 1½@1⅝c. Winnipeg wheat futures closed 1⅝@1⅝c lower, while Liverpool prices finished unchanged to ½d lower, compared with Friday's close.

Wheat Bulge Short-Lived

Sentiment in wheat was still bearish at the opening, there was a large supply of December for sale, Liverpool was lower than due, and corn was weak. However, several leading commission house bought the offerings of December, firming the market, and the pit element and shorts followed the strength, bulging prices about a cent. Buying power declined on the upturn, other interests sold and prices dropped back sharply as stop loss orders were encountered.

The only news of a bullish character dealth with the continued dryness in the Northwest, but Winnipeg failed to register the effects of great concern over the matter. Broomhall again spoke of dryness in Argentina, but these repots attract but small attention, and Buenos Aires market was weak. Southwest advices are generally favorable, the European crop summary was the same, leaving the dryness in Canada the only source of bullish information for the present.

Demand, while still of large proportions, gives no promise of developing to any extent which would offset the bearish effect of the heavy stocks. On passage supplies decreased slightly despite the heavy shipments.

The most bearish piece of news of the day, particularly in view of the generally good crop conditions throughout the world was the report on acreage made by the bureau of agricultural economics at Washington. Their figures show approximately 138,760,000 acres of wheat sown in 21 countries for the season compared with 133,766,000 acres sown by the same countries a year ago.

Export trade continued of the holiday character. Broomhill reiterated his previous figure on the season's demand, despite the fact that world shipments are running considerably in excess of the 13,600 bu per week which would average out his figure.

Corn Trade Weak

Corn was weak all session and the early bulge in wheat failed to cause a rally of more than a quarter cent. Later when wheat broke, corn prices declined still further, with little resistance. Most of the buying came from shorts. The incentive for the selling yesterday was the forecast for more settled weather throughout the belt, and reports of the delays in planting received scant attention. Cash demand was not as brisk, a factor which accounted for a share of the pressure. Southwest is still bearish because of the nearness to the June run of marketings and the relatively high price of corn compared with wheat.

1,500 BRITISH TO MAKE RELIGIOUS PILGRIMAGE

VANCOUVER, B. C.—A religious pilgrimage of 1500 Britishers from the Old Land will invade the Dominion of Canada in June "to study the life and work of the Christian Church in Canada," according to plans now under way by the Free Church Council of Great Britain.

Word received here from the Rev. A. G. Sleep of the Colonial Missionary Society in London states that illustrated lectures have been distributed through the British Isles and the worshippers have enrolled from all parts of Great Britain.

GERMAN PRISONER WANTS EXECUTION CARRIED OUT

BERLIN—A demand that his pardon be cancelled and that he be executed has been filed with the authorities by Wilhelm Sinowatz, whose death sentence for murder was commuted to life imprisonment. Sinowatz wrote his lawyer:

"I wish you had never asked for a pardon for me. The death sentence is effective and I have a right to demand that it be executed. Life imprisonment is outright madness. And that is supposed to be mercy? I don't want it. I don't want to be pardoned."

We are prone to think the Lord is on our side when we have to do something disagreeable to multitudes of people.

But It's a Draw—Propeller Tangles With Auto

DAYTON, May 22—A new-type passenger automobile and the propeller of a Blue army plane arrived in a war all their own last night at the Fairfield air depot where the blue army participating in the air-ground maneuvers holds forth.

The fight was a draw.

HELEN BUSCHMANN RETURNS FOR TRIAL

Girl Who Was Unconscious Six Months Suing Motor Bus Owners

PAINESVILLE, May 22—Miss Helen Buschmann, 20, Westfield, Mass., who attracted the attention of the entire medical world by remaining in a coma for more than six months after being struck by a motor bus at Mentor, has returned here to appear at the trial of her suit against the Great Lakes Stages Bus Co which opens in common pleas court.

Miss Buschmann is suing the company for $250,000 damages.

At the time of the accident, Miss Buschmann was a sophomore in Lake Erie college here. She was rendered unconscious by the accident and remained in that condition for more than half a year. During the period specialists from all parts of the United States attempted to restore her to consciousness but failed. She was able to take nourishment regularly and on one or two occasions appeared to be regaining consciousness but lapsed into a coma again within a short period.

A few months ago the girl's mind began to clear and she gradually climbed back from the abyss of darkness. At present Miss Buschmann is able to walk with the assistance of two persons but cannot speak above a whisper.

She was accompanied here by her mother and an attendant. It is thought unlikely that she will be able to testify.

Cooper Pressure Brings Arrest of 16 Dog Track Officials

West Jefferson Kennels Oval Scene of 3-Corner Fight as Governor Acts

Manager of Track Says He Will Open Tonight Again, While Authorities Declare That More Arrests Will Be Made If He Does

WEST JEFFERSON May 22—[illegible] and employes of the [illegible] Kennels club under [illegible] the dog races stopped [illegible] meet had been run [illegible] feared today that the [illegible] to bear upon Madison county officials by Gov Myers Y Cooper has had more than a little effect

Undaunted H M Foster general manager of the track declared that he would open the races again tonight.

Those arrested were taken into custody today immediately after the first race had been run last night and after the alarm bells had been paid off Five deputy sheriffs made the apprehension

Must Stop, He Says

The dispute attracted statewide attention when Governor Cooper announced that betting at dog races in Ohio has got to stop, and then paid specific attention to the races here by mentioning them

Fuel was added to the fires when Ohio's chief executive communicated with Madison county officials at London and demanded that they take steps to stop the betting at the local track

Officials of the county replied to the governor's commands by arresting four officials and then refused at the time to make any more arrests

Three Corner Fight

The dispute appears to be a three cornered fight today with Governor Cooper at loggerheads with the Madison county officials, with the county officers turned against the race track managers and with the latter promoters sore at both the governor and the Madison county officials not mentioning two local newspapers whom the managers of the track charge are responsible for the governor's stand

And it might be even called a four cornered fight inasmuch as officials of this town want the dog races to continue here

FORCED TO TAKE HIS BROTHER UP

WEST JEFFERSON May 22—Chief Deputy G F Clark led the raid on the dog races here last night when 16 officials and employes of the track were arrested Among those taken into custody was William Clark Jr one of the betting clerks and a brother of the deputy sheriff

I hated to do that Chief Deputy Clark said but I couldn't tip him off

It was in the last half of 1928 that dogs became active From June until December they killed and injured sheep valued at approximately $3 870 doing nearly five times as much damage as was done in the first five months The total loss for the year was about $4 500

So far this year dogs have killed 6 and injured 24 sheep in Marion county flocks Those killed have been appraised by appraisers named by boards of township trustees at $601 The injured ones have been appraised at $187

Twenty of the sheep killed however were lambs and were appraised at only $2 a head

The largest loss this year was reported during the week ending January 7 During that week dogs killed 4 sheep valued at $31 50 and injured 20 valued at $150

Marion Mimes Hear Expert in Talk on Little Theater

His experience of seven years as director of the Urbana Community Players and additional years of active interest in the theater was the basis of a talk given to the Marion Mimes last night by Dr T T Brand of Urbana in west hall of Harding High school building Sound facts that this experience has proved keen alert suggestions for increasing and holding membership and donors in the activities of the Mimes were the subjects discussed in his talk of an hours length

First Dr Brand urged the Mimes to get the cooperation of the mayor of the city the business men literary clubs art clubs ministers influential people in all classes of the city, in putting on a membership drive

Vital Point Discussed

Points on directing one of the most difficult positions in any theater and particularly so in a group of local talent were given the audience together with a complete plan of starting production of a show

The Urbana little theater group has a membership of 900 and owns the theater where its productions are staged This year the members staged three well known productions, and attended program given by Columbus Dayton and Ohio Wesleyan Players

Dr and Mrs Brand were guests of the board of governors of the Marion Mimes at a 6 o'clock dinner in the Hotel Harding dining room Walter Weber, president of the local group, turned the program at the high school building over to Murray Powers, vice president, a personal acquaintance of Dr Brand, who gave the introductory talk,

Play Presented

Following the talk by Dr Brand a one-act play directed by Mrs. Dorothea Tway was presented The action was laid in 1917 when automobiles were scarce In the course of the play it developed that the maid's fiance was prospering in the real estate business and owned an automobile one of the chief desires of her employers. Mr and Mrs. Espen harns were played by Murray Powers and Miss Marion V McNeal and Hilda the Swedish maid by Miss Hallie Houck

CRILE AND LOWER TELL OF DISASTER

Investigators of Clinic Fire Unable To Explain Its Mysterious Origin

CLEVELAND May 22—Investigators of the Cleveland Clinic disaster which shocked the entire nation just a week ago still were unable to explain it today

Dr George W Crile president and founder of the clinic and Dr William E Lower co-founder gave their versions of the tragedy to Coroner A J Pearse and Assistant Prosecutor Emerich Freed late yesterday

There was no precedent for this declared Dr Crile one of America's most famous surgeons We knew that the building was well constructed that trusted employes were in charge and we had taken precautions that we thought entirely adequate.

He said Dr Lower had more direct knowledge about the clinic building The latter said the best information could be obtained from Dr Bernard H Nichols in charge of the x ray department and Ralph Griffith in charge of the building and Walter Adams custodian

Neither Dr Crile nor Dr Lower was in the clinic at the time of the explosion They were both nearby and rushed to the scene to aid in relief work Dr Crile said the deadly gas generated by burning x ray films which was responsible for most of the deaths was nitrogen peroxide in his opinion

Steady Gains in Efficiency

RAILROADS in the United States reached a higher level in operating performance in 1928 than ever before in history.

Managements are increasingly reaping the benefits made possible by their definitely planned program for physical betterment, both of fixed plant and equipment.

Gratifying success has marked the unending efforts to improve every possible factor of performance, such as train load, speed of movement, adequacy of motive power and equipment and elimination of car shortages and delays.

Immense economies have resulted from the constant reduction in the field of waste, such as waste in fuel, waste represented by loss and damage to freight and other property, and the most important waste of all, that of death and injury to human beings in railway accidents.

In all these lines of endeavor there has been marked progress.

THE HOCKING VALLEY ranks high among the railroads of America in the efficiency of its operations. Its record of performance in practically all items that denote improvement are at or close to the top.

We are glad to be able to offer such a character of service to our patrons and the public generally. It shall be our persistent aim to keep this service up to the highest possible point of adequacy.

A beautiful gift for her graduation

a chest . . . steeped in the romance of the past

THE DOWLING DOWRY CHEST
by LANE

The design of this chest reverts to an old dowry chest said to have been used in the Court of King James I in about the year 1620.

According to the story, one of the court attaches, a Sir Henry Dowling, had one daughter whom he loved very dearly.

This daughter, Amelia, had been sent to a convent on the continent. When she was ready to return to England, Sir Henry, in true fatherly fashion, desired to commemorate her home coming with a gift.

So he called in the artisans and he ordered them to make a chest which should surpass all others in beauty. He selected the wood, watched the work step by step, and finally when the chest was completed, nobody in all the Court had ever seen one lovelier.

Amelia came home. She accepted the chest with heart overflowing with joy. And, according to the story which ends just as all such stories should, she married, settled down and lived happily ever after.

The gift from her father then passed on down through many generations finally to bestow its wealth of beauty and romance upon this modern adaptation, the Dowling Hope Chest, specially designed for the Girl Graduate by Lane —the world's foremost cedar chest makers.

This chest has the loveliest of Oriental and American walnut veneers on the outside and the choicest of aromatic red cedar hand-wood on the inside, the cedar being ¼ inch thick in accordance with the U.S. Government recommendations for a moth-killing cedar chest. Heavily paneled top richly embellished with carved mouldings. The chest is sturdy, capacious, lasting—indeed a charming treasure to hand down to future generations.

We shall be most happy to have you inspect this chest. For the Old Graduate—for any girl or young woman—no finer or more acceptable gift is easily procurable. The price is $35. Convenient terms may be arranged, if desired. We show many other pleasing Lane models.

CALVARY opened its 1929 recreation ball campaign by getting a good start on another Church league pennant by defeating the Epworth Juniors, 8 to 1 last night.

Jones, who was expected to give the Juniors the added punch, needed for their debut in the first league, lasted three innings. He was yanked in the third when the Calvary sluggers jumped on him for six runs. Lingo allowed but one hit in the last three innings. Gruber, Calvary ace, pitched a good game for the winners.

Gamble outpitched Rice as Epworth No. 1 defeated the Epworth Seniors, 2 to 1. The contest was the outstanding battle of the evening.

When Wesley scored two runs in the seventh inning, Rank was prevented from entering the ranks of no-run hurlers. The Christians defeated Wesley, 4 to 2, with Baumgardner tossing for the losers.

St. Mary's piled up seven runs off 10 hits to defeat Trinity, 7 to 5. The Saints had five errors against them. The Trinity nine scored all its runs in the second inning. Gunder was the winning pitcher.

FRENCH GOLFER SETS NEW MARK

PARIS, May 22—Aubrey Boomer, French professional attached to the St. Cloud club, today set what is believed to be a new world's record for tournament play, when he went around the St. Cloud course in 61 strokes. This shattered the course record of 66 which young Horton Smith, Joplin, Mo., pro, set yesterday in the opening round of the tournament and later duplicated in the second round.

Boomer shot 33 on the outgoing nine this morning and then stroked his way home in 28, just one over even threes for the nine holes.

GAMES TODAY
Kiwanis vs. Eagles.

NINE runs scored on two hits, four walks and six errors gave the K. of C. entry its first victory in the Junior Baseball championships yesterday afternoon at Lincoln park when the Irish trounced the Elks, 14 to 12.

As a result of the victory every team in the junior loop has won at least one game. Before last night the Irish were in last place. They are still in the cellar berth but share the position with the Elks.

The nine runs pounded across in the second inning gave the K. of C. team a lead that the Elks were unable to overcome although they chalked up four runs in the seventh when Kelley walked four men.

Pitching of both teams was good and bad at streaks. Bintz, winning pitcher of the game, allowed three hits in six innings and struckout 12 men. He also issued eight passes. Walters, of the Elks, allowed five hits but made up for it when he allowed 10 men to reach first on balls.

COLUMBUS, TOLEDO CHALK UP VICTORIES

Mud Hens Move Into Sixth Place; Senators Still Last

Having been always taught to place the hottest news at the top of the yarns, this attempt must be started off with the assertion that Columbus and Toledo won their respective games in the American Association tilts played yesterday.

Kansas City took a close one from St. Paul by a 5-3 score, and Minneapolis nosed out Milwaukee by one run, the tally at the end of that pitching fray being 7 to 6. The two wins left the top standings in the fling race unchanged with the cowboys first and the twin city nine a close second, with only .008 per cent separating them from the coveted first place.

St. Paul still holds third place, not by reason of any brilliant effort on its own part, but because of lickings administered to other teams.

Indianapolis, running in a losing streak, was defeated by Toledo in a match which ended 5 to 4. This pulled Toledo up from seventh to sixth place.

The Hoosiers, for the same reason that St. Paul holds third place, are still in the fourth birth and Milwaukee occupies the next seat in the row.

Columbus slugged out 11 runs to top the Louisville Colonels 10 tallies. By virtue of this, Louisville dropped to seventh place. Columbus is basking in the eighth and last position.

WITH two places in the All-Star bowling league cinched, there will be plenty of "dog fights" pulled off before the season closes in two weeks.

Winning 18 straight games from the Midland Mutuals, the Marion Builders Supply team copped first place. The victors are out in front 11 games with six contests yet to be played. The Builders Supply team's victory also caused the downfall of the Midland Mutuals who held undisputed claim to the cellar berth.

The fight for second place is centering between the Chrispin Drugs and Markert & Lewis. The teams are tied for second place as a result of the three-game licking the cigarmen handed the drugs last night.

Smart & Waddell can take fifth place from Jim Dugans and Bradley Drugs can tie for the position.

Steinmetz was the star of last night's performances. He chalked up a 678 for high three game score and his 258 was high for a single game. Postle, Kopp, Zeisler and Stewart rolled 600 or better.

SEVEN EVENTS ON OHIO STATE SPORT CARD THIS WEEK

Baseball, Tennis, Golf and Polo Featured Friday, Saturday

COLUMBUS, May 22—The spring athletic program at Ohio State university will reach its climax here Friday and Saturday in as widely varied a series of contests as has ever been held on the Buckeye campus. The Ohio Stadium and adjoining athletic plant will be taxed to capacity to house the seven major features scheduled.

Big Ten tennis stars were already into the first round of singles Thursday with the doubles eliminations due to get under way at 10 a. m. Friday. Finals in both doubles and singles are set for 2 p. m. Saturday.

Other at-home varsity contests will include a baseball game with Ohio Wesleyan at 4 p. m. Friday and a polo match against Chicago at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. The latter will stand as the first Big Ten game ever played in this sport.

Four Ohio interscholastic championships will also be decided on the Buckeye campus. Baseball coaches will meet Thursday night in the Ohio gymnasium for their drawings. Elimination rounds begin at 9 o'clock Friday morning on the varsity and freshman diamonds and on the Columbus North and Central high school fields.

There will be no play Friday afternoon, all contestants being guests of the University Athletic association at the Ohio State-Ohio Wesleyan game. Semi finals Saturday at 9:00 a. m. and finals on the varsity diamond at 3 p. m. Saturday will decide the victors in Classes A and B.

High school golfers will require but a single day to determine both team and individual champions. The 18 holes of medal play will be shot over the Indian Springs course, starting at 9 a. m. Friday. Four men constitute a team, although individuals may compete for low medalist honors.

The interscholastic tennis entries will follow in the footsteps of the Big Ten contestants playing their eliminations Friday and their finals Saturday afternoon on the varsity courts. It is planned to bring the singles and doubles championships into the varsity arena in conjunction with the Big Ten title matches.

With Class C dropped from the classification, the interscholastic track and field championships will offer a concentration of talent. Preliminaries and semi-finals in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, high and low hurdles, quarter mile and half mile relay will be run off Friday, starting at 3 p. m. Finals in all Class B field events are scheduled for 9:30 Saturday morning and all remaining finals at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Any sport fan with an eye for statistics will be interested in the fact that four baseball diamonds, 40 tennis courts, two cinder tracks, 12 jumping pits and weight rings, a polo field and a golf links will be under heavy fire for the two-day periods of the tournaments.

ROOKIE RELEASED

NEW YORK, May 22—Arndt Jorgens, of Chicago, rookie catcher obtained by the New York Yankees from the Oklahoma City club of the Western league, has been released to Jersey City of the International league under an optional agreement. Three other Yanks, probably two pitchers and an outfielder, are slated to get the axe before the 25 player limit goes into effect on June 15.

Cards Win 12, Lose 5 On First Road Trip In 1929

NEW YORK, May 22—If the St. Louis Cardinals can perform on their home lot this season as well as they did in their first long jaunt away from home, they will win the National league pennant in a walk. They won 12 games and lost but five in their first 1929 road trip, winding up with a 12 to 1 landslide over Cincinnati yesterday.

The Reds could do little with the veteran Grover Alexander, while the champions sewed up the game in the fourth inning with a seven-run rally featured by Hafey's sixth homer of the year. Cincinnati has lost five straight games.

The Cubs overcame a four-run lead in taking an 8 to 6 slugfest from the Pirates, winning the series two games to one and maintaining their lead of half a game over the Cardinals. Larry French, sensational Pittsburgh southpaw, took the rap in the sixth inning after Hornsby had softened him up with a homer in the fifth.

Both of the west's leading contenders in the American league also won. Ownie Carroll of Detroit won a neat pitching duel from Willis Hudlin of Cleveland, 2 to 1, on Stone's hit in the thirteenth. An error by Lind enabled the Tigers to tie the score in the ninth.

A four-run rally in the second, featured by homers by Manush and Schang, started the St. Louis Browns off to a 7 to 1 win over the White Sox. Crowder pitched for the Browns.

All the games in the east were washed out again. It began to look as if all the eastern teams will have to build covered stadiums in order to go through with their schedule.

Cheer Up, Boys!

Maybe Girls Will Never Take Up Game of Poker

BY DAVID P SENTNER
Marion Star Staff Writer

BRIDGEPORT Conn May 22 — Soon there'll be nothing left for the men to do but take our knitting and sit in the corner

Women here have supplanted men in what traditionally has been considered almost peculiarly masculine type of industrial work—crane operating

This is the delicate strong arm business of managing a five-to-ten ton steel casting dangling at the end of a chain They say men never were satisfactory at the job being too heavy handed And that now the women handle these giant castings as deftly as a needle

AN attractive slip of a woman Tilda Zakrison 22 weighing only 100 pounds sat in the control cabin of the crane 30 feet up in the air The scene was the main shop of the Bullard Co manufacturers of machine tools

Two machinists rigged a heavy chain around the five ton casting and flung a loop over the great hook of the overhead electric traveling crane which dangled from a double pulley The men stepped away and signalled to hoist

HILDA began doing her stuff The casting was picked up like a giant's toothpick It swung toward the rear of the huge steel shed weaving in and out of a clutter of machinery with uncanny accuracy shaving neatly a great bathe and missing another by thousandths inches

Finally it came to a gentle rest above the metal base on which it was to be lowered after travelling 500 feet through a maze of machinery The casting came to a dead stop with such precision that bolt holes filled over bolt holes and in a whiplash workmen had slipped the bolts into place

HILDA leaned calmly back in her chair above the noisy floor and picked up a magazine until she would be needed again

When her shift was over she swooped down to the floor and stepped daintily out of her cabin She was dressed in knickers and silk waist She looked ready for a stylish masquerade ball

'I like it? she said in reply to a question I think my job is fascinating One has such a feeling of power—like flying a plane

There are seven cranes doing similar work in the Bullard plant and all are operated by women,

THE skill of these girl crane operators is almost unbelievable said F P Bullard president of the company They can literally drop a ten ton casting on an open face watch without breaking its crystal

These operators have been recruited from our women time keepers and there is great competition for vacancies when they occur '

OUSTED MAYOR GOES ON TRIAL TODAY

Bribery Charge Against Groh Due To Be Heard at New Philadelphia

NEW PHILADELPHIA, May 22—Peter J. Groh, ousted Dover, Ohio, mayor, went on trial in common pleas court here today on charges of accepting a $50 bribe from a state prohibition agent posing as a rum-runner and of having a pint of liquor in his possession.

Common Pleas Judge E. E. Lindsay is presiding.

Prosecutor J. F. Kuhns will present the case against the ex-mayor, who was discharged by Governor Cooper, upon insistence of R. R. Beetham, state prohibition commissioner.

Ed Little, Dayton, and John O. Cole, Steubenville, ex-state dry agents, who resigned "under fire" after their methods of using minor girls as liquor decoys were criticized, are expected to be the chief state witnesses.

Groh's defense, it was indicated by his attorneys, Henry and Russell Bowers, will be that the arrest was a "frame up."

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y. May 22—Undaunted by the accident last night which ended their attempt to set a new endurance record, Lieut. Henry B. Clarke, Martin Jensen and William Ulbrich planned to make another try today in their plane "Three Musketeers."

The fliers were forced to land at 8 o'clock last night when the hook flew up and tore the fabric on the stabilizer during an unsuccessful attempt to refuel from a ground catapult. They had been aloft only five hours and forty minutes.

The fabric was repaired easily.

MEXICAN WANTED TO SHOW LINDY DEVICE

Released by Police After Telling Story of Trip from Mexico

NORTH HAVEN, Me., May 22—Explaining that he came all the way from Mexico City so that he might show an airplane invention to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Robert Tondero, 40, who had been taken to Rockland jail as a suspicious person, was released today.

Police said that Tondero explained his presence on the island here because "Colonel Lindbergh was the best of them all." There was no sinister motive behind his visit here where Colonel Lindbergh and his fiancee Miss Anne Morrow and her family are in seclusion, authorities believed.

Tondero readily answered all questions of Rockland police and had voluntarily accompanied them from the island to the mainland.

ENTERTAINS CLUB

Guest Sings Group of Songs at Galion Kiwanis Meet

GALION, May 22—A special treat was given members of the Galion Kiwanis club Tuesday when "Jim" Smith, a former member and a fellow Scotchman of Hughie Diamond, sang a series of Scotch songs, as Scotch songs should be sung. Mr. Diamond prefaced each song by telling of his own trip to Scotland and of visiting the scenes described in the songs. "Annie Laurie," "Bonnie Doone," "Afton Water," were the songs and Mr. Smith put into them a wealth of feeling.

The educational committee, with Charlie Monroe as chairman, introduced and instructed a new member, Wilfred A. Dickerson, with the usual ceremonies. The presentation was made by the Rev. O. O. Kramer.

The meeting was under the direction of Herman Eichhorn, program chairman for this month. For June, the programs will be in charge of four of the newer members, M. Gwinner, H. Black, J. Schalk and C. Ritcher. The next meeting will be the usual business meeting at the end of the month.

Letters of criticism are not so bad if they are courteous.

LINER'S STOREROOM DAMAGED BY FIRE

Store Room of Leviathan Is Scorched by Blaze; To Sail Saturday

NEW YORK, May 22—The Giant steamship Leviathan, which passed through thousands of war hazards as a United States transport without so much as getting a scratch, today received its "baptism of fire."

Spontaneous combustion in a storeroom of the liner, at dock in the Hudson river, started a fire which sent two fire boats, three engines and two hook and ladder companies hurrying to its pier.

A member of the crew saw heavy smoke curling from a fan opening in the storeroom, which is on E deck, almost level with the water line. The ship's fire fighting crew took emergency measures and an alarm was sounded in the meantime which brought the city apparatus.

Twenty-five minutes of hard work were required to route the blaze. Contents of the storeroom, only manila rope, canvas and cleaning fluids, were badly damaged and the room was scorched. But the damage will not affect the sailing of the ship Saturday. She came into port Monday with 1,100 passengers.

MONEY SHORTAGE STILL A MYSTERY

Committee Fails To Locate Shortage in Bucyrus Waterworks Department

NO ACTION TAKEN

Take Under Advisement Proposition of Playground Fund

BUCYRUS, May 22—Councilman George Ryan in behalf of the water committee, reported to council at the regular meeting held last night, that the water committee has completed their investigations in regards to the shortages which have occurred in the city water and garbage departments during the past year and which were reported to council in a sensational letter signed by Miss Lucille Hertzer, clerk of the waterworks department several weeks ago, that they had been unable to place the blame on any person or persons for the shortages which are approximately $220. What action will be taken now has not been ascertained.

An ordinance fixing the salaries of officials of the city waterworks, amending a former ordinance passed Oct. 5, 1926, was passed by council. Changes in the new ordinance include an increase in the salaries of the two assistant engineers from $1,440 to $1,500 a year, and provides for a two-weeks vacation with pay for all employes of the waterworks department.

Steps toward the improvement of the Marion rd., from the South Sandusky intersection south to Charlotte st., were taken by council, which passed a resolution giving their consent for the county commissioners to make a survey of the road and prepare necessary legislation to be presented to council within the near future, with a view of placing an entirely new street in the territory designated.

On the suggestion of Mayor Schuler, the finance committee took under consideration the problem of placing a larger sum of money at the disposal of the Harmon Playground fund, to make possible the hiring of supervisors and the purchase of new equipment for the grounds. This move was deemed necessary this year, in view of the fact that these expenses, which were formerly taken care of by the Community chest, would need to be met in order that the playgrounds might function properly during the coming season. The sum of $400 has formerly been appropriated for the playground. No action was taken on a motion made by Councilman Gee, that a new car be purchased for Chief of Police Trautman. It will not be necessary for a special appropriation to be made, the cost of a new car to be taken from the extraordinary equipment appropriation which is $1,800.

The Hipp heirs, through their attorney, submitted a protest on the improvement of Highland av., charging their property owned on that street is not of enough value to justify their assessments.

An invitation to all public officials to participate in the Memorial day services in the city was read, all officials signifying their intention of taking part in the day's program.

Russell Point council has already granted a waterworks franchise to Charles R. Folsom of Urbana, and it is the intention of the officers of the village to fight the proposal to force matter to a referendum, it was indicated.

BUCYRUS MAN GETS VERDICT OF $250

Crawford County Jury Awards Sum in $6,000 Damage Suit

BUCYRUS, May 22 — James Smith was awarded a verdict of $250 by the jury yesterday afternoon, after hearing the testimony in the $6,000 damage suit of Smith against George Slaton, Emerson Street resident, who was charged with having stabbed Smith following a quarrel over the defendant's daughter. Smith was represented in court by Attorney J. D. Sears and Charles F. Schaber acted as counsel for Slayton.

The suit was the outgrowth of a quarrel over the appearance of Slayton's daughter at the LeRoy Drew home, 1401 North Sandusky av., on the evening of July 17, 1928. According to testimony given during the trial Miss Slayton refused her father's demand that she leave the Drew home where Smith was calling on Miss Vernell Drew. Smith, resenting the names called Miss Slayton by her father, entered into an argument with Slayton, resulting in the stabbing. Smith was removed to Monnett Memorial hospital.

Slayton, when arrested by local officers, pleaded not guilty before Mayor Schuler. The grand jury failed to indict him.

KENTON COUNCIL PASSES ORDINANCE

Mayor Will Have Final Jurisdiction in Liquor Cases

KENTON, May 22—An ordinance prohibiting trafficing in intoxicating liquor in the city and providing for the seizure and sale of property used in the trasportation of liquor, was passed by the Kenton city council last night under suspension of the rules.

Under the provisions of the law, coinciding with state and federal enforcement measures, the mayor of the city is given final jurisdiction in liquor cases.

Heretofore the city executive was without power to act in numerous cases that were brought into his court, it was pointed out by City Solicitor Carter W. Schwemmer.

The ordinance is quite lengthy going into minute details defining intoxicants and what acts might be considered a violation. For the first offense a fine of not less than $100 or more than $500 might be assessed while for a second offense the minimum fine is placed at $200 the maximum fine remaining at $500.

Two other ordinances amending sections of previously enacted legislation covering liquor violations and paving the way for the new bill, were also passed.

TWO PLANES TO HOP OFF FROM OLD ORCHARD

Williams and Frenchman Race for Getaway Looms on Maine Coast

ROOSEVELT FIELD BAD

Americans' Ship Expects To Start Flight to Rome Thursday

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., May 22.—Prospects for a transatlantic air race loomed today when Armeo Lotti, Jr., sponsor for the proposed United States-to-France hop announced that it had been decided to start the airplane Bernard 191 from here rather than from Roosevelt Field, N. Y.

The announcement was made just after Roger Q. Williams and Lewis A. Yancey had returned with their Old Orchard-to-Rome airship Green Flash from gasoline consumption test flights, preparatory to a hop off for the Eternity City tomorrow morning.

Prefer Roosevelt Field

From a sentimental standpoint, the French fliers would prefer to take off from Roosevelt field—from the spot where Col. Charles A. Lindbergh started his epochal flight to Paris two years ago this month. However, the wet weather of the last few days has made a quagmire of the short takeoff area at Roosevelt Field and it would be dangerous to try and go up with a heavy load, such as would necessarily have to be carried on a transatlantic hop.

Here at Old Orchard the beach runway is two miles long and the hard-packed sand lessens the danger of accident to a heavily loaded plane.

Tomorrow Starting Day

The Green Flash will take off from Old Orchard beach on its 5,000-mile flight to Rome at Dawn tomorrow.

Although the transatlantic fliers have been receiving discouraging weather reports for two days it was reported today Dr. James D. Kimball, at the New York weather bureau, that ideal flying conditions will prevail as soon as the storm of the past two days has abated.

A clear sky all along the coast line today gave Williams and Yancey and their mechanic, Kenneth Boedecker, of the Wright Whirlwind Motor Corp., an ideal opportunity to make the necessary test flights which are so vital to the expedition. The main purpose of the trials was to gauge the amount of gasoline consumed.

RALPH BENDER WINS COUNTY ORATORY TITLE

Waldo Student Victor in Smith-Hughes School Competition

SPONSORED BY GRANGE

Winners in Pleasant Township Event To Enter State Semi-Finals at Ashley

Ralph Bender, Waldo high school student, will represent Marion county in the semi-finals of a state oratorical contest to be staged at Ashley next Monday night as winner of the county contest held last night in Pleasant Township school building. His topic was "Cooperation and Education."

He competed with three other Marion county students in the contest last night. They were Myron Kirkpatrick, of Pleasant township, Clifford Smith, of Green Camp, and Carl Russell, of Prospect. He received a loving cup as an award from the Pomona Grange of Marion county, presented by Mrs. Harvey Schwaderer, county lecturer.

Frank E. Wilson, chief of the division of examination and licensing, of the state department of education, was judge in last night's contest.

Winners of the district contest at Ashley Monday night will go to the state contest, sponsored by the state grange, to be held at Ohio State university on May 31. Gold, silver and bronze awards are offered.

This contest was restricted to students of the Smith-Hughes vocational agriculture course, and topics were limited to some phase of rural life. There are six schools in the county offering this vocational course, two of which were not represented in the county contest.

NEW YORK CITY WIDE OPEN TO AIR ATTACK

That's Consensus After Successful "Air Raid" by Army Plane

FLIES 600 MILES

Harbor Defenses Fail To Fire Single Shot at Mythical Invader

NEW YORK, May 22—New York City is wide open to attack from the air.

This is the consensus today following the highly successful "air raid" staged last night by a giant Fokker bombing plane which flew 600 miles non-stop from the headquarters of the United States army air maneuvers at Dayton, Ohio.

Aided by a thick fog and the darkness, the giant plane swooped low over New York harbor shortly before 9:30 o'clock last night, released a flood of "bombs", represented by brilliant flares, and in the space of a few moments technically destroyed the city's principal harbor defenses on Governor's island.

Not one answering shot was fired by the defending anti-aircraft guns, as lack of searchlights prevented them from sighting the aerial raider in the murky skies. Virtually unopposed and unendangered, the bomber circled over the city, getting in its "deadly" work, then speeding off to effect a safe landing at Bolling field, Washington.

The giant two-motored plane, piloted by Lieut. Odas Moon and carrying a bombing crew of four, arrived over the Battery, the tip of Manhattan island, at 9:25, circled the army post on Governor's island, scarcely visible in the low-hanging clouds, flew north straight up Broadway over the defenseless city as far as Central park.

At Central park, the big plane turned south, and this time flying lower, dropped a "bomb" directly over Fort Jay. The flare exploded in the air, illuminating the entire bay and lighting up harbor craft and the Statue of Liberty as clearly as they would appear at sunset.

Col. Truman O. Murphy, duty officer at Fort Jay, declared that attempts to "bring down" the plane were utterly impossible.

"We heard her engines about 9:25," Colonel Murphy said. "She was heading north, it seemed, but the plane was so hidden by fog and clouds that it was impossible to see her without playing an anti-aircraft searchlight upon her. We have no such lights on the island.

"Of course, had this been a real enemy attack, we should have been completely equipped with regard to

Lindy to N. Y.?

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, his fiancee, Miss Anne Morrow, and their mutual friends, members of the Mexican Embassy staff at the Pershing airport in Mexico, are now being looked upon as a possible flying party to New York, it is reported here today. Lindbergh is expected to arrive in New York from Mexico City by plane tomorrow, and it is believed that he will then fly to Old Orchard beach to join the party which will then fly to New York.

MAN IS HELD HERE AS ARMY DESERTER

Also Suspected of Driving Stolen Car and Issuing Questionable Checks

Joseph K. Brady, 22, of Oklahoma, arrested here last night, is a confessed deserter from the U. S. Army since last August, according to local officials. He was wearing his army uniform when arrested near the police station at 11:30 last night.

An investigation made today convinced police he was driving a stolen Reo roadster. Several questionable checks have been issued by Brady, police say. An investigation of the car and his person revealed checks on different banks, made out for various small amounts. The person to whom they were made payable had not been filled in, in each instance he signed his name as J. K. Brady, and as a private in the U. S. Army, taking advantage of his uniform to cash his checks, police say.

His arrest was prompted last night when two boys, waiting for him at the police station, told police he had "picked them up." They were planning to continue with him, they said. After talking with them police awaited the arrival of Brady and questioned him. He immediately confessed, police say.

Communication with Oklahoma and federal authorities today by local police is expected to result in a variety of charges against him. He is being held for investigation.

A search revealed that Brady had but five cents on his person. Among papers he carried was an envelope addressed to A. Stangland, 705 North Pine st., Ponca City, Okla., who police think is the owner of the car.

The plane had made a record-forced landing because of motor trouble when it broke out. The mail was destroyed.

Those on board the plane were: Pilots Hugh Parker and Roy Warner; "Slim" Lewis, a co-pilot, and his wife; R. E. Taylor, Salt Lake; O. C. Richardson, R. M. Sherrit, F. M. Reid and a Mr. Rich. The addresses of some of the latter were unknown.

LITTLE RED BOOK IN N. Y. BANK CRASH

Names of Political Figures in Both Parties Whispered in Financial Collapse

NEW YORK, May 22—New York City has its little "Teapot Dome" scandal in the investigation into the collapse of the City Trust Co.

The names of political figures in both parties are whispered in connection with the bank crash. Even the Hamlet-like ghost of Arnold Rothstein, the slain underworld king, hovers over the financial tangle.

A band of city trust depositors today sent a request to the acting governor to call an extraordinary term of the supreme court to investigate criminality in the bank collapse.

The "little black bag" of Teapot Dome notoriety is paralleled somewhat in the introduction of a "little red book" in the present investigation.

This mysterious book contained a notation indicating the payment of $30,000 to the apartment of Frank H. Warder, former state superintendent of banks, according to testimony at the special investigation.

A bank examiner found the little red book in the desk of the treasurer of the bank, and copied it. It read: "Cashed check of Atl. for 30,000. F. M. F. V. P. who brought the cash by cab in bills of 1,000 and 500's to redraw."

Witnesses pointed out that "RED-RAW" reads "Warder" spelt backwards.

Thomas O'Connell, a subordinate of the bank, testified he gave the book to Warder but that the latter subsequently denied ever seeing it.

The little red book is now missing.

Following the election of officers the heads of the various committees made their monthly reports. All of the reports showed the Y to be in a fine condition.

Cincinnati To Take Part in Many Centennial Events

SPRINGFIELD Mar 22—Cincinnati's historical hookup with Western Ohio will keep the city party to a dozen sesqui-centennials either at hand or approaching The enactment of Senate Bill No 91 by Senator Miles S Kuhns Dayton takes cognizance of this by making Cincinnati the end of the Ohio Revolutionary Memorial Trail and mentioning a statue of General George Rogers Clark as a fitting beginning of the Trail

Plans shaping in the Ohio Revolutionary Memorial Committee which sponsored Senate Bill 91 are built with realization that Cincinnati as properly the gateway to Western Ohio historically and that all event to be celebrated trace their beginnings to happenings at Cincinnati

Among the sesqui-centennials that properly could have a Cincinnati connection as pointed out by members of the committee are the following 1778-1928, the Colonel Dowman expedition starting at the site of Cincinnati for Chillicothe on the Little Miami River including a battle there in June 1778 and a grand review of the spoils at Cincinnati later second the Four Mile Bar Battle sesqui centennial 1778-1928 or the events attendant upon the massacre of Dave Rogers party of 70 men on a sand bar in the Ohio River at Cincinnati th Indians being led by Simon and George Girty and Matthew Elliott renegades

The third sesqui-centennial would have to do with the Colonel Bird British expedition in 1570 against Kentucky the council around Cincinnati the attack on Ruddle's and Martin's Station in Kentucky the pursuit by Colonel George Rogers Clark the attack on his men under Major Hugh McGary near Cincinnati the building of the first blockhouse on the site of Cincinnati in consequence the stronghold being used as a depot in the following expedition and a refuge for the wounded

The sesqui centennial of 1780-1930 ties in with Springfield since the decisive battle of the campaign was fought near there and Clark's march from the site of Cincinnati outlined the Ohio Revolutionary Memorial Trail as designated in Senate Bill 91

Following in further rapid succession came the Clark expedition in 1782 to the Upper Iroquois on the Big Miami This event and the consequent destruction of Indian villages may be celebrated in the sesqui centennial of 1782-1932 Next turned—Adv

comes the Ben Logan attack on the Mascoche towns in Logan county Logan in all probability starting from the site of Cincinnati since he had been with both the previous Clark expeditions

The sesqui centennial of the founding of Cincinnati would come next 1788-1908 the building of Fort Washington 1790-1910 the Harmar expedition 1790-1910 the St Clair expedition 1791-1911 with about certain observances at and Fort Recovery the Wayne expedition 1792-1794 to 1794-1919 with a host of observances centering around Fort Jefferson Fort Recovery Defiance Fallen Timbers and Greenville All the events trace back to beginnings in Cincinnati and show the historical hookup underlying the passage of Senate Bill 91 which recognizes Cincinnati as the historical gateway in this section of the West

"For loan oft loses both itself and friend and borrowing dulls the edge of husbandry."

In many respects Shakespeare was truly right for too frequently banks extend loan accommodations to customers who borrow unwisely and from which an unhappy situation develops, causing strained relations that could have been avoided did the banker exercise due caution and prevented an unnecessary loss

We do not purpose to lose money, either our own or that of our clients.

Sound banking requires matters of such importance be thoroughly analyzed from both sides of the counter
